

I support the FCC plan to require wireless number portability.
This is good for the consumer and really will not harm the industry.